3. The LOADING GATE (1894 G) will be released when the right hand receiver half is removed from the assembly. For reference when re-assembling the gun, be careful to note the loading gate and the loading tube location and how they are captured in assembly.
4. Remove the two LEVER SPRINGS (1894 Y) (one wire spring and one coil spring) from the assembly.

5. The BARREL BAND (1894 BB) can be removed by removing the barrel band screw (F) and allowing the right and left halves of the barrel band to be removed from the assembly. CAUTION! If the mechanism has failed internally, this screw may be retaining the internal parts of the mechanism and when it is removed, the barrel subassembly parts will be pushed forward out of the barrel and should be contained by a rag or the bench top to prevent loss of parts or possibly injury.
